

More than qualified – BCIA certified!

The Biofeedback Certification International Alliance (BCIA) has certified professionals in 22 countries since 1981 and requires that its certificants adhere to a rigorous ethical code.

More than qualified – BCIA certified!

BCIA certification establishes that a professional has at least met entry-level standards for the clinical practice of biofeedback.

More than qualified – BCIA certified!

BCIA certificants must hold a state-issued license or credential when treating a medical or psychological disorder, or work under the supervision of a licensed professional.

More than qualified – BCIA certified!

You can find BCIA-certified professionals on our website (www.bcia.org) under Find a Practitioner.

