

Biofeedback Practitioner

Tru Whole Care
New York, NY

Who we are:

Tru Whole Care is an innovative, multi-specialty center located in Midtown Manhattan. Our unique approach is called Whole Care and we balance the best elements of traditional medicine with wellness services by bringing a range of doctors and specialties together in one location. This patient-centric model creates a convenient and complete private healthcare experience unlike any other in New York.

For our providers, Tru Whole Care provides the freedom to practice how they want, when they want, using the philosophy they feel works best. The Whole Care methodology requires only a collaborative mindset and a commitment to providing complementary and comprehensive care in treating patients. Ultimately, the best course of action will be determined by you and your patient whether that includes wellness, lifestyle and/or traditional medical services.

Our intellectually-driven team of practitioners approaches healthcare with the belief that the patient deserves top-level medical expertise and the best comprehensive care available. We are looking for physicians and wellness providers interested in owning their own practice and who share those ambitions of unparalleled service and the ideals of coordinated care.

What you bring:

- Excellent clinical and communication skills
- A commitment to delivering high quality mental health care with a focus on the practice of biofeedback.
- A biofeedback certification
- Aspire to work with a team of practitioners dedicated to delivering high quality, multi-specialty health care in Manhattan
- Licensed in New York

What we offer:

- Ability to Determine Your Own Patient Appointment Schedule and Decide Office Hours/Time Off
- Freedom to Practice Mental Health in Your Own Way
- Built-in Referral Base
- Instant Credibility

We are looking for a biofeedback practitioner to work under one of Tru Whole Care's internal medicine physicians. This will be a contract position that can be part-time or full-time depending on case load. We anticipate a September start date. Preference will be given to those with a valid BCIA certification or to those willing to earn same within 6 months.

All qualified candidates can contact comments@truwholecare.com with CV.

